A CONSERVATIVE CHAOS.

THE PARTY DIVIDED ON THE LEADERSHIP QUESTION.

The Ottawa Citizen Reads the Rival Factions a Lesson — Honorable Mr. Abbott Will Likely be the Temporary Premier.

OTTAWA, June 11.—The internal bickerings which now permeates the whole Conservative party are apt to increase by the delay which has been occasioned through the Governor-General not calling upon a successor to the late Sir John. Lord Stanley was advised in the course he pursued by Sir Hector Langevin, who maintained that he was solely actuated through a desire of showing respect to the late Premier in deferring the appointment till after the funeral. The interregnum has been taken advantage of by a number of applicants for the leadership of the party to pursue their canvass and so increase their expectation of getting the position. An article in this morning's Citizen shows the inward condition of the party, which is anything but harmonious. It is headed, "The Duty of the Hour," and an extract from it reads: "He who is false to duty breaks as a thread in the loom and will find the flaw when he has forgotton the cause. Self interest, self promotion, self aggrandisement must be put aside and the man or the men, who to further their own interests for one moment, jeopardized the autonomy in the Conservative party, must not be surprised if those who are loyal refuse to surrender their consciences and their privileges into questionable keeping." Further it says: "We would counsel firmness, counsel conciliation, and when the time comes, as come it must, within a few days, let there be no discouragement, no selfish grasping after individual aims, but one potent and patriotic motive of doing that which is best for the collective and not for the individual interests. Langevin, who at one time was willing to give up his claims to the premiership in favor of Abbott, who was to lead temporarily, is now beginning to recant, it being pointed out to him that to waive his claims at present would be tantamount to an acknowledgment of guilt in regard to the serious charges of mal-administration preferred against him before the Privileges and Elections Committee. Under the circumstances, he may insist, as the oldest privy councillor, and assistant leader of the late Government, in having his claims recognized. Chapleau's hydra-headed combination is being principally advocated by a few equal righters, anxious to get representation in the cabinet, and a few French Canadians, who desire to see Chapleau their leader and Minister of Railways. McCarthy will not accept a position in the cabinet, but Meredith may. In such an event Thompson would be Premier, Chapleau leader of the French Canadians and Minister of Railways, and Meredith Secretary of State and head of the ultra Protestant Tories in Ontario. This is the Chapleau programme, but still the prospects are in favor of Abbott becoming leader, with no other change until the end of the session. An effort will be made after the temporary organization of the government, to pass the estimates and ask for an adjournment till the fall, so that the cabinet may be constructed. To-morrow or next day will likely see the appointment of a leader. A large number of members of parliament and others left to-day by special train for Kingston to attend the funeral of Sir John.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 11.—Everything points to the selection of Senator Abbott as leader pro tem, and it is the general belief that he will be sent for to-day or to-morrow. He is a compromise between the Tupperites and Thompsonites, and at the same time a concession to the larger provinces. But no person believes that he will be permanent leader. He is an old man, and while an able lawyer, he is not a leader of men. There is a feeling, becoming more outspoken than ever before, that Canada must not altogether be dominated by a railway, and Mr. Abbott, as is well known, owes his prominence to his connection with the C.P.R. It is scarcely likely that there will be any change in the cabinet outside of the premiership. There is a fear abroad that it would be dangerous to swap horses until the stream is crossed.

THEY ADMIT THERE ARE CABALS.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Colonist telegraphs: "There is little new with regard to the political situation. It is admitted on all hands that the Governor-General should not have delayed sending for somebody to form a government. Had a premier been chosen by His Excellency and a ministry organized, on Sunday last, the rank and file would probably have become reconciled, or accustomed, to the new order of things before the funeral ceremonies were over, but the long delay has afforded opportunities for the formation of cabals, which may complicate the situation. It is not expected the Governor-General will now take action before Friday." The "formation of cabals" is suggestive of difficulties ahead. Why should there be "cabals"? Are the Tories not a happy family, and united in their policy? For a good Conservative our contemporary admits too much.

All Cape Breton Sick.

OTTAWA, June 8.—The Marine Department has received a detailed report from Dr. McPherson, of North Sydney, Cape Breton, who was sent to render assistance to sufferers from Grippe on St. Paul's Island, in the gulf of St. Lawrence. The doctor says that on his arrival he found Mr. Campbell, superintendent of the light station and chief engineer, suffering from pneumonia, and that nearly every person on the island had been afflicted with influenza. Besides this, many children were suffering from diphtheria or whooping cough, and in some instances from both diseases. The grippe is also epidemic on Magdalen Island. Hundreds of people are sick, and the canning factories have been closed, as there is no one to run them.

A SUCCESSFUL SHOP-LIFTER.

A Woman Who Stocked Her Store With Stolen Goods.

IRONWOOD, Mich., June 11.—A most remarkable story of theft was brought to light last night by the arrest of Mary Boulgie, of this place. For some time the merchants have missed goods from their stores. Mary Boulgie it appears went to Davis & Fehr's store yesterday and asked to have a piece of goods changed. The clerk recognized it as a piece that had been stolen and this led to her arrest. Search of her house revealed over $6000 worth of stolen goods. She became terrified and confessed everything. She said she had been stealing for five years and had stolen over $1000 worth of goods in Cincinnati when she was their last summer and twice as much from Chicago houses. She replied, when asked what she did with her plunder, that she was running a store in Hurley, Wis., and found no trouble in selling all she stole. She was locked up and this morning held in $12,000 bonds for trial.

WILL WRITE A BOOK.

The Tranbycroft Affair Will be Written up by Sir William Cumming

NEW YORK, June 11.—The Sun says: Sir Wm. Gordon-Cumming has decided, says a letter from an acquaintance of the baronet in London to a gentleman in New York, to relate his own version of the Tranbycroft scandal, in a small volume which he proposes to bring out at an early date. In his book he will deal particularly with what he has termed the "rascality" of Lycett Green, the manner in which the Prince of Wales keeps secrets, his candid opinion of the hostess of Tranbycroft, the true and only reason why he was called upon to sign that document, how the Prince of Wales plays the role of banker, why he carries his own baccarat apparatus about with him, the nonsense that occurred among the party on both nights, the play, and last but not least, Lady Brookes' reason for breaking her promise to the Prince of Wales that she would not utter a word about the affair to a living being. Sir William is alleged to have given this information to only one or two of his most intimate friends, and is anxious that the world should know nothing about his proposed book until it finally appears. It is thought that Sir Edward Clarke, the solicitor who defended Sir William Gordon-Cumming, will write the introductory part of the volume.

Large Purchase of Oil Lands.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 11.—The largest deal in oil lands ever known in this State, and perhaps in the United States, has just been closed in Fentress county, by Col. H. T. Starke, now of Atlanta, and formerly of New York. The oil tract lies on four streams west of the coal region of the Cumberland plateau. The streams are the East forks of Obeys river, Buffalo Cone creek, Franklyn creek and Lost Cane creek, all flowing into the Cumberland.

Fired on Iquiqui.

NEW YORK, June 11.—The Herald's special from Iquiqui, Chili, via Galveston, says: The armed transport Imperial and the torpedo cruisers Lynch and Condell, appeared in sight again about 4 o'clock this afternoon and began firing on the town, but the range was too great and no damage was done. The torpedo vessels were chased by the Congressional ships Huesacar and Abtato. At half-past 6 all was quiet again, the ships having apparently retired.

Withdrawn From the Church.

PITTSBURG, Pen., June 11.—At the Reformed Presbyterian synod to-day, last night's resolution sustaining the Pittsburg Presbytery was passed by a vote of 96 to 35. All of the suspended ministers, except A. N. McLurkin, announced their withdrawal from the Reformed Presbyterian church. They will be followed by at least 25 other members.

Waiting for Orders.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—The revenue cutter Corwin is still lying in the stream. Captain Hooper says that he momentarily expects orders to sail for Behring Sea, but supposed that diplomatic correspondence between this country and England was causing the delay. The Corwin is ready to sail at an hour's notice.

Pulitzer's Return.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Joseph Pulitzer, proprietor of the World, arrived in New York yesterday by the steamship Majestic. He went direct from the steamer to the World office and plunged into business. Mr. Pulitzer's health has been built up splendidly during his stay abroad.

THE CLOSING SCENE.

THE BODY OF SIR JOHN IN CATARAQUI CEMETERY.

The Imposing Ceremonies at Kingston—All the Different Orders and Societies Represented—Very Large Attendance of Prominent Politicians.

KINGSTON, June 10.—The special train bearing the remains of Sir John Macdonald arrived at nine o'clock last night. Accompanying the remains were the Privvy Councillors and a few other gentlemen, and representatives of the press. The train bearing the members of the Senate and House of Commons arrived here this morning. The remains were borne to the City Hall, where they were placed on a catafalque trimmed with heavy folds of cashmere and with ostrich feathers on the four corners. The City Hall is magnificently draped. The city is in heavy morning, all the buildings being draped in black. All the stations and engines of the C.P.R., from the Atlantic to the Pacific, are draped in morning.

KINGSTON, June 11.—Kingston paid a noble tribute to Sir John. Thirty thousand people jammed the streets here to-day, when the last sad obsequies were performed. When the funeral train arrived at 10:25 last night, the people who had gathered at the station uncovered their heads as the heavily covered coffin passed through the lines of "A" batterymen. Cabinet members followed the body int the hall and the doors were closed soon after. A guard of the Royal Military College was placed over the corpse and they were relieved at stated hours during the night. From eight o'clock until noon, thousands of persons viewed the body of Sir John. Special trains brought visitors from the East and west. Lieut.-Governor Royal and the Northwest delegation arrived at 2:30 p. m. from Renfrew Junction. The cortege was formed at the city hall where the remains of the deceased lay in state since last night. The funeral proved almost as imposing as yesterday's solemn ceremonies at Ottawa. The route was from the city hall along Ontario street to Princess street and direct to Cataraqui Cemetery. The following was the order observed: Firemen, Masons, Gananoque Carriage Works band, Canton Kingston, No. 6, I.O.O.F., Cataraqui and Kingston lodges, I. O. O. F., Manchester order of Odd Fellows, Derry lodge No. 1 Prentice Boys Orange Young Britons, local True Blues, Court Frontenac and Independent Order Foresters, Court Stanley, Canadian Order of Foresters, Ancient Order of Foresters, Court St. Marys, Catholic Order of Foresters, St. Patricks Society, C. Drennan, flowers, pallbearers, hearse drawn by eight horses draped, body guard of R. M. Cadets, mourners, Colonel Gzowski, representing Her Majesty, the Queen, Lieutenants-Governor and staff of Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, archbishops and bishops according to seniority, members of the Cabinet, speakers of the Senate, judges of the courts of law and equity, members of the House of Commons, members of the Legislative Assembly, speakers of the Legislative Councils, speakers of legislative Assemblies and members, consuls of foreign powers, deputy ministers, officers of the militia, mayor and corporation of Kingston, deputations from cities and towns, citizens' carriages. In the procession were Lt.-Gov. Campbell, Lt.-Gov. Royal, Lt.-Gov. Daly, Solicitor-General Pugsley, Premier Blair, and members of the Cabinet. A special train carried people from Ottawa to Cataraqui cemetery, where the remains were interred, three miles from the city. James Trow, M.P., represented Hon. Mr. Laurier, who was unavoidably absent, and Major Colville represented the Governor-General. President Van Horne, of the C.P.R. and party arrived at noon. Gov. Royal was accompanied by Col. Herchmer, Hayter Reed, Supt. Gagnon, Mr. Acton Burrows. A unique deputation arrived this morning, consisting of representatives from the Six Nations reserves, Tuscora and Oneida, Brant County. The services at the grave were conducted in accordance with the ritual of the Church of England, Rev. Dr. Bedford Jones officiating. A deputation from the Mohawk reserve, Bay of Quinte, also attended.

SIR JOHN'S WILL.

OTTAWA, June 10.—The will of Sir John Macdonald will be probated after the funeral. It was drawn up some time ago, by Hon. Mr. Abbott, and it is said to contain a wish that Kingston should be his last resting place. The estate, though not large, will probably realize $100,000, the great bulk consisting of the testimonial of $80,000 presented to Sir John, in 1840, by the Conservative party, and invested in Lady Macdonald's name.

TROUBLE IN AFRICA.

Report That They Have Seized the Liberian Coast.

LONDON, June 11.—Advices from the West Coast of Africa state that much excitement as been aroused in Monrovia, the capital of Liberia, by the news that the French have seized part of the Liberian coast, near Cape Palma. An appeal will probably be made to the United States against this action on the part of the French, who claim that the territory in question is within the sphere of the French. The Liberians have held much of the coast now claimed by France almost since the foundation of the republic, and are settled there and engaged in trade. Should the French put garrisons and custom houses in the ports on the coast, trouble will no doubt ensue, and the Liberians have no power but the United States to look to for assistance. The French have for a long time regarded the African republic with much jealousy and made encroachments on its interior boundaries. This, however, is the first move on the coast.

LORD BROOK'S FATHER.

The Earl of Warwick, father of Lord Brook, whose wife, Lady Brook, has been prominently mentioned in connection with the baccarat scandal, is in a critical condition of health, and his son is at Warwick Castle attending him.

A RELIGIOUS OBSERVANCE.

A Constantinople dispatch says that the Sulton has been celebrating with great eclat, the circumcision of his three youngest sons, 5000 poor children undergoing the ceremony at the same time at the Sultan's expense. The city has been illuminated and is rejoicing generally over the sacred occasion.

THE REFUGEES.

By orders of the authorities no more of the refugee Russian Jews will be permitted to enter Berlin, and their passage through Germany is hastened as much as possible, very few being allowed to wait at Charlottenburg beyond the intervals between trains. The majority of the refugees are on their way to the United States.

AUSTRIA.

The Austrian heirapparent, the Arch Duke Franzie, is recovering from a severe attack of illness, which has caused great anxiety to the imperial family. The Austrian Reichstrath has begun the discussion of the budget and will remain in session for a month. The Austro-Hungarian delegation will meet in October.

THE QUEEN STIRRED UP.

It is said that the Queen is so deeply stirred up over the baccarat revelations that she has requested the Prince of Wales to make an early personal explanation of his conduct and that some of the Prince's associates in the game may be made to feel the royal displeasure. The Secretary of State for War has been overwhelmed with letters demanding that action be taken against the implicated officers.

NEW TIPPERARY DESERTED.

The majority of the tenants of South Barry in Tipperary have returned to their holdings, and New Tipperary, the town built by national league contributions, is almost deserted. A portion of the fund received from America has been used to relieve those still holding out. Several of the excited tenants who have not re-occupied their holdings have, it is stated, been paying their rent secretly ever since the eviction.

GREAT FIRE BRIGADE DISPLAY.

During the coming visit of the German Emperor, the London fire brigade will have the largest parade ever seen in England, and will be reviewed by the Emperor.

TO STRIKE AGAINST TIPPING.

The waiters of Brussells purpose to strike against the payment of fees by guests. Their objection is that the largest share of the fees goes to the proprietor, and that the waiters do not make up for the non payment of wages. The waiters, therefore, ask that the fees be abolished and regular wages paid. The proprietors are reluctant to make the concession which would benefit the customers by leaving them the money now paid in fees. The public sympathize with the waiters.

THE MANIPUR MASSACRE.

The Jubraj, or regent of Manipur, has been found guilty of responsibility for the murders of Grimwood, Quinton and others. The sentence awaits the approval of the home government. The Jubraj, it appears, from the evidence, did not actually participate in the massacre, as did the Seneputty, but was in the palace and might have prevented it.

A WARNING TO ROYALTY.

The Royal party at Ascot seemed to assume an extra degree of hilarity, as if to show their indifference to the fire of criticism which has been pouring upon the Prince of Wales. The Prince himself was the least demonstrative of the group. Outside of this little coterie, everybody was talking of the attacks on the Prince, which have been unexpectedly unanimous in their tone of warning and reproof. The fact that in his examination in Court, the Prince was not asked whether he had divulged the secrets of the precis, while all the other parties to the affair were questioned on that point, is taken as a confirmation of the rumor that the secret did eventually owe its publicity to the careless tongue of his Royal Highness. The story is that the Prince confided the morsel to his favorite, Lady Brook, who in turn, repeated it to a friend of hers, who happened to have been scorned by Sir William Gordon-Cummings, and who at once saw in this episode the opportunity for her revenge. Never in history, at least since the Cromwellian period, has the royal home of England been subjected to such general criticism and condemnation in the person of the heir to the throne. The leading newspapers, irrespective of party, in London and the provinces, are united in arraigning the Prince of Wales for the low example he has given the public, and startling suggestions are given currency that the Prince's kind of royalty is not suited to the age and to the people. The nonconformists everywhere are aroused, and next Sunday will undoubtedly witness some of the plainest utterances of the century from the pulpits of Great Britain. The Chronicle had an enormously increased circulation to-day, and even with the extra editions copies were hard to get. The Wilkes have kept very quiet since the verdict, and Mrs. Wilson is said to have been thoroughly frightened by the hissing she received as she left the court room.

OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

THE RECIPROCITY PAPERS SUBMITTED TO THE HOUSE.

Sir Charles' Visit to Washington Asking for Reciprocity—A Sort of Political Mission—The Great Stretcher's Version—An Interesting Letter.

OTTAWA, June 2.—The long promised reciprocity papers have at last been brought down to Parliament. They contain Sir Charles Tupper's account of his interview with Mr. Blaine at Washington, shortly after the recent elections, on the question of reciprocity. The report is dated the 25th April, and was prepared in London, after Sir Charles returned there. The telegram, which has been frequently referred to, postponing the conference, was received before leaving Ottawa, still Sir Charles Tupper, Sir John Thompson and Mr. Foster left for Washington. This telegram was from Sir Julian Pauncefote. When reaching Washington the three uninvited delegates were informed that the discussion on the question of reciprocity could not be commenced at the date agreed upon, but Mr. Blaine would endeavor to fix a date for that conference. He at the same time expressed surprise at their not receiving his message before starting from Ottawa, informing them that the question could not be discussed in the absence of the President. Afterwards, October the 12th was fixed on as the date for the conference. Sir Charles in his communication points out that he showed Mr. Blaine the great advantages of the modus vivendi to the United States fishermen.

NO AUTHORITY FROM THE IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT.

At the interview Sir Julian Pauncefore stated that Mr. Bond had no power from the Imperial Government to negotiate a treaty between the United States and Newfoundland. Mr. Blaine said that such a treaty was not necessary, seeing the colony of Newfoundland was willing to give American fishermen all the privileges they desired, and would not only give bait to the United States fishermen but would refuse bait to Canadians. Sir Charles Tupper here referred to Newfoundland's breach of faith with Canada, in reference to the bait act, and Mr. Blaine followed by saying that he was willing to talk on the trade question, and stated that sometime ago he mentioned to the Canadian Minister of Fisheries a desire that no increase of duties should be imposed upon fish by either country, and he regretted that congress did not see it to carry out his proposition. Sir Charles adds that Mr. Blaine's proposal was that congress should not increase the duty on fish if Canada would abolish tonnage dues under the modus vivendi. Then the High Commissioner told Mr. Blaine that but for the abrogation of the treaty of 1866 it would not have been possible to carry the confederation scheme in Nova Scotia. He (Sir Charles) then expressed his satisfaction that the United States had refused to pass an unrestricted reciprocity treaty, adding that Canada was most anxious to have the freest and most friendly intercourse with the United States consistent with the interests of both countries. The treaty of 1854, Mr. Blaine said, was abrogated because of the sympathy Canada had shown with the South as against the North during the civil war, and not because of commercial considerations. This, on behalf of Canada, Sir Charles denied. He also said that 40,000 Canadians had fought in the Union army, but to this Mr. Blaine replied that the large bounty offered might have induced them to do so. Mr. Blaine then referred to the Canadian elections, saying that neither he nor any member of the U. S. Government took any interest in that political contest. He also objected to what was said by Sir Charles and Sir John Macdonald during these elections on the proposed negotiations with the States for a treaty, maintaining that no negotiations had been proposed by himself or his government beyond what was suggested by Sir Julian Pauncefote. This is confirmed by the correspondence, the conversation arising out of the Newfoundland correspondence, and the expressed desire of Canada to be included therein.

WHAT INFERENCE TO DRAW.

This brief summary of the correspondence, over which considerable more will yet be heard of in Parliament, shows plainly that the conduct of Sir Charles Tupper and his colleagues, during the recent elections, was of the most objectionable character and totally unfair to be used against their political opponents. These men actually fought the contest on lines which is distinctly shown to be untrue and which they knew at the time was untrue.

INTERESTING LETTER.

The following letter, read at the Privileges and Elections Committee, will be of considerable interest to TIMES readers:

OTTAWA, May 26, 1891.

Hon. Sir Hector Langevin, Minister of Public Works,

DEAR SIR,—Since I had the last interview with you in reference to the B.C. graving dock contract, my brother had a proposition from your engineer, Mr. Perley, which he accepted and put in writing. Therefore I considered the matter was finally settled to your honor's satisfaction until I was informed on Saturday last, by Mr. Bryson, M.P., that he heard it was to be tendered for over again. I therefore made several attempts to-day to see you, but as I did not succeed, and having heard that you were going away, I thought I would write you again.

As I always try to be guarded, and not place your government in any false position, before moving in this matter, and as they were both Irish Catholic firms that were in for the work, and being aware that collusion is very often practised in tendering for contracts, I asked my brother if he had been aware of Starrs and Gilmanly's tender before they were opened, and both he and the rest of the members of his firm informed me that they did not, and were all willing to make affidavit to that effect if necessary. They further stated that although they expected a good deal of competition, there was no parties more surprised than they were to find competition from that quarter.

Therefore, feeling satisfied that their trade was a bona fide one, I thought it my duty to ask you now to accept, and am willing to hold myself responsible for their action. Mr. Stewart, one of the members of the firm, had an interview with Mr. Perley respecting the work and prices tendered for, since my last interview with your honor, therefore Mr. Perley can inform you as to Mr. Stewart being out to view the situation and his knowledge of the work.

Not hearing from your honor since my last interview with you, yet I trust the result will be favorable to my friends, notwithstanding the rumors I have heard to the contrary. If it should not, it will place me in an awkward position with my friends in the different constituencies around here, and if it should be favorable to them, I will always look upon it as a personal favor to myself, and I have no doubt everything will be carried out to your satisfaction.

As your honor remarked to me to have this matter kept quiet, my brother and I did so. He still holds the checks in his possession, as he expected he would get the work, and would require to return them to you. Trusting that you will excuse me for troubling you so much, and let me know the result of your discussion as soon as convenient, I remain your humble servant,

P. BASKERVILLE.

THE APPEAL WAS IN VAIN.

Across the end of the letter was this memo. in Sir Hector's handwriting:

"Memo.: Inform Mr. Baskerville that new plans and specifications have been ordered, and that new tenders will be called for.—H.L.L."

In spite of Mr. Baskerville's appeal the contract was ultimately awarded to Larkin, Connolly & Co. SLABTOWN.

Some of Canada's Merchant Princes.

There are in Canada many merchant princes who would willingly give a handsome percentage of their wealth if they were guaranteed a lease of health, and a few years more of life on earth. In their present condition they are aware that they have not much hope held out to them of long years. In their desire for riches, fame and position, they have become almost physically wrecked. We pity some of them, as we gaze on their sallow, thin faces, their sunken eyes, their nervous twitchings, their trembling hands and unsteady, faltering steps. They are also suffering mentally. The brain has become weak and clouded, the memory is failing, and they are tortured by headaches; and fear that something dreadful is about to happen. This state of of suffering has been brought on by overtaxing the mental and physical powers; and mark well sufferers, unless you find relief from the true remedy, look out for paresis, paralysis, and dread insanity! No necessity to give away a large slice of your wealth for relief. Paine's Celery Compound is able to accomplish what you so greatly desire. It has restored to new life more desperate cases than yours, and many of these former sufferers still live as witnesses for this great remedy, and their testimony is on record. It is for you to determine whether you will live in suffering, and die later on from, it may be insanity, or by using Paine's Celery Compound, that perfect fruit for brin and nerves, live in perfect health and extend your life to a good old age.

The Keystone.

HONORING THE DEAD.

Statue in Honor of the Dead Confederates Unveiled.

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., June 11.—The statue of the "Confederate dead" was unveiled here to-day with imposing and appropriate exercises, in the presence of a large concourse of people. Early in the morning trains from the north and south brought in a great number of visitors, and by noon fully 5000 strangers had arrived. In honor of the occasion the city had been elaborately and handsomely decorated. The day will be one of the most memorable in the city's history. The capacity of the town was fully taxed, but everything passed off pleasantly and quietly, and nothing to mar the pleasures of the occasion occurred. Representatives from Picket Camp, Norfolk, Lee Camp, Richmond, and delegations from Alexandria and Washington also were present. The decorations of the houses consisted of national, state and confederate flags, with bunting in profusion. The oration was delivered by General Bradley Johnson and was an able and eloquent address.

BURIED TREASURE

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 11.—Great excitement prevails among the people of Kershaw over the finding of $163,000 in gold and other valuable treasure, which were buried in that neighborhood 24 years ago, when Sherman's army was passing through South Carolina. The officers of the Camden bank collected the money and jewelry and brought it near Hanging Rock Creek, Kershaw county, to bury it. They were captured by Sherman's men and forced to give up their treasure. The soldiers in turn appointed one of their own number, named Rhodes, to bury it. Among the treasures was a gold pitcher, presented by the ladies of Charleston to Calhoun. On his death bed a few days after, Rhodes said he had buried the money near an old mill, a short distance from the mouth of Hanging Rock Creek, and dictated a descriptive letter for Col. Wm. E. Johnson, of Camden, S. C. For the past 20 years various parties have been digging for the buried treasure, but without success. Last Friday night, however, it was secured by a Mr. Rhodes, brother of the man who buried it and a Mr. Swaggart, both northern men. The work of digging was done altogether in the night time. These men were seen on Friday afternoon with a half bushel satchel, and a pick across their shoulders. Several citizens of Kershaw have seen the hole from which the money was excavated. Rhodes and Swaggart have disappeared.

NANAIMO NEWS NOTES.

Contract let for New Church—New Electric By-law Passed.

NANAIMO, June 10.—At a meeting of the members of St. Alban's church on Monday night the contract for erecting the stone work of the new building was let to Mr. Somerhayes, and the contract signed. Already the material for the work is being collected on the site chosen for the new edifice, and work is to be actively carried forward, as it is the intention of the Rev. Tovey to lay the foundation stone on the 17th of the present month. Already the school room on Gilespie street has been completed and was formerly occupied la t Sunday for the first time.

RUSHED THROUGH.

The council appear to be anxious to get hold of the electric light just now and at the meeting on Monday night another Electric Light By-law was introduced and rushed through in short "order". It is to come before the ratepayers on the 22nd of the present month and it is a foregone conclusion that it will carry successfully. Our city fathers don't believe in advertising the city, and quite a war of words took place between Alds. Campbell and McCutcheon over the matter and the former eventually won his point in opposing spending the money that way.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

On Monday afternoon while Mrs. Chandler was driving to the city from East Wellington with her two children and their governess, the party came near losing their lives by a collision with a brewery wagon, driven by two intoxicated men. The lady observed the wagon coming toward her at a furious rate, and when near the Quarter Way House she drew in to let them pass, but instead of doing so they went crashing into the phaeton, throwing the occupants out and smashing the light gig. But for the promptitude of a few men who observed the occurrence the ladies and children would have been seriously injured, as the head of one of the horses in the brewery wagon grazed Mrs. Chandlers neck. The damage to the phaeton is said to be $100, which the drivers, if they can be identified, will be required to pay.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.

The installation of officers of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters took place at the regular meeting of the lodge on Monday night. This lodge has only been in existence a few months, but it was shown by the report which was read at the meeting that great progress had been made by the lodge, and it now numbers between 60 and 70 members and new ones are constantly joining.

LITTLE HAPPENINGS.

Mr. J. Haskin, jr., furniture dealer, has sold his stock in trade and business to Mr. Gagnon, late of Vancouver.

Sohn Dand, a miner working in No. 2 pit, East Wellington, was injured internally by a fall of coal yesterday afternoon. Two siwashes were arrested for robbing a dumb man yesterday, the sum taken was $5 of which they handed the man back $1.

The firm of Richardson & Homer will shortly dissolve partnership and the business will then be carried on by the former.

Mr. Seward regrets the necessity of his leaving Victoria while there are so many anxious to see him. His office will remain open an hour later each day during the remaining few days of his stay so as to accomodate as many as possible.

A large number of letters of gratitude have been received showing the grand result of the work done here, which has never been equalled before. Mr. Seward has proved his claim to be just, namely, as an expert optitian. He is second to no one in America.

Dr. McNaughton Jones, Dr. Milne, Postmaster N. Shakespeare, Collector A. R. Milne, and hundreds of others now wearing Mr. Seward's glasses speak of the work in the highest terms.

THE CRY OF MILLIONS

OH, MY BACK!
STOP IT NOW.
SOON IT WILL BE TOO LATE.

I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have sought aid from different physicians without relief. About the 15th of April I was suffering from a very violent attack that almost prostrated me in such a manner that I was bent over. When I sat down it was almost impossible for me to get up alone, or to put on my clothes, when kind Providence sent Dr. Henley, with the OREGON KIDNEY TEA, to my hotel. I immediately commenced using the tea. It had an almost miraculous effect, and to the astonishment of all the guests at the hotel, in a few days I am happy to state, that I was a new man. I will recommend the tea to all afflicted as I have been.

This Townsite is situated on Semiahmoo Bay, and is the only deep water seaport between the International Bounday Line and Vancouver, B.C. It will probably be the Mainland starting-point of the Victoria, Saanich & New Westminster Railway. It is now the outlet for the finest agricultural district in British Columbia.

The C.P.R. has made a survey of a line from Vancouver direct to this point. The Royal City Planing Mills Company has built a substantial wharf here, and has established a lumber yard, which supplies the farmers of this district. A handsome Hotel has been erected and building is going on rapidly. Several influential and far-sighted corporations have acquired large tracts of land surrounding this Townsite.

SUITS TO ORDER
CHEAPER THAN EVER.

Since the formation of a union amongst the tailors in Victoria prices for clothing have advanced to such an extent that people are sending East for their suits. And we don't blame them, either, if they can save from $10 to $20 a suit. We pay union prices simply because we have to; not that we consider it right.

We were paying our men the same wages before union prices were enforced that we paid them ten years ago, when we received from ten to twenty per cent. more for our suits.

We have from ten to fifteen thousand dollars invested in tailoring, and we propose to turn it over at least twice a year, regardless of profits. To do this we will make suits cheaper than we did before we paid high prices for making up. Good Tweed and Serge Suits, $25.

Irish Tweeds, $27, $28, $30 and $32. If any other tailor in town will prove that these goods are not genuine Irish Tweeds we will donate a Thousand Dollars to any charitable institution that he may name.

Black worsted suits $40. You will get the same goods for $48 or $50 elsewhere. We intend to make a specialty of tweed suits for $30; regular price is $35 to $40. We have the store for our other business; it costs us nothing for the tailoring department; we have the stock; we have a first-class cutter, and we have capital enough to run it if we don't make a cent. So now is the time to get cheap suits to order.

We are going through the stock marking everything down. Don't take everything for granted. See our new schedule of prices.

A ROYAL GAMBLER.

Considerable stress is being laid on the Prince of Wales' latest escapade, and not without good reason. Gambling, unfortunately, is well nigh universal; it always has been, and probably always will be. Nor is baccarat, faro, poker and monte the only forms of gambling. We have gambling in stocks, where tricks are played that would put a faro dealer to blush; we have it in real estate (witness the boom cities on this coast), in which actual lying was resorted to that the unsophisticated should invest. The card-sharp pure and simple listens with scorn to the homilectics of his church-going brother, whom he knows has just invested in a town lot as a speculation. The difference in moral turpitude between the card-sharp and the stock and real estate sharp is very little. Both, or all three, rather, are in the same category. But if, as may be urged, there is a distinction between card and stock gambling, so there is between card gambling as a business and card gambling to kill time. Gamblers of the latter sort are usually people of means. The stakes are "limited," and the participants are supposed to be the souls of honor. This species of recreation between men of means, who are strictly honorable, has few of the demoralizing features peculiar to card gambling pursued as a means of livelihood. To what extent it may whet the appetite for gambling need not here be discussed; but gambling of this kind among men with whom £500 is of no consequence, is no worse than benevolent lotteries and church fair grab-bags. It must be admitted, however, that the Prince of Wales might find better employment during his leisure than dealing baccaret, which, apart from moral considerations, is an ignoble recreation.

THE SCHOOL MEETING.

The new School Act, observes the Columbian, not merely curtailed the people's privileges, but dispensed with the requirement of an annual school meeting, "and although the new act does not come in force until June 30th, the usual notices which the Government has furnished for the annual meeting were not forthcoming, and the trustees, we understand, were advised by the Educational Department that a meeting this year would not be necessary; for some reason, the Department evidently seemed to think it would not be expedient. So no meeting was called, as usual," but, adds the Columbian, the school trustees will call a meeting on their own account, "at which meeting an annual report will be submitted, and the public will have at least an informal opportunity of expressing themselves on school matters." It seems to us rather late in the day for the New Westminsterites to informally express their disapprobation of the School Act, for as we understand it, this is the primary object of the meeting in question. The New Westminster people should have publicly expressed their condemnation of the Government's usurpation before it received the sanction of the House. Better late than never is good philosophy, but prompt and decisive action during a crisis is better philosophy. The New Westminsterites were fully advised of the situation at the time. It was common talk that the measure was a usurpation, and it was predicted by such of the press as was not controlled by James Bay, that the law was unsuited to this section of country. At the time the bill was pending was the time for the public to disapprove. But the public slumbered and slept. Had the Mainland and the Island unitedly raised their voices against the measure the mechanical majority in the House would never have dared pass it.

SENATOR CARLISLE AND ALLIANCE DELEGATES.

In the Cosmopolitan Magazine for April will be found an article entitled "The Farmers' Alliance," from the pen of Senator PEFFER. The article deals with the inception of the Farmers' Alliance movement, its aims and general policy. The article, in short, is a variety of manifesto. It is pointed out therein that agriculture is depressed; that quite one-half of America's homes are mortgaged; that wealth is rapidly passing into the hands of the few; that the encroachments of the money power are everywhere visible; that it pollutes elections, controls legislation, debauches trade, rules in the forum, the school and the church. The truth of these allegations require no argument to demonstrate. They are visible to the most casual observer. Even economic writers friendly to capital, admit the centralization of the money power. "What, then," enquires Senator PEFFER, "is the grand overshadowing problem of the time with the farmer? The problem is money. When Wall street needs money the United States Treasury is at its disposal, but the farmers' appeal is not heard. In the circumstances, therefore, the policy of the Alliance is the dethronement of the money power. This does not mean anarchy, nor repudiation, nor war; it means says PEFFER. "The rule of the people." The people propose to take charge of their own affairs; make and issue their own money, and charge borrowers only what the handling of it costs. This, in brief outline, is the policy of the Farmers Alliance, and it has a pretty general endorsement throughout the length and breadth of the United States. Its fiercest opponent is the portion of the press which is owned and controlled by the same hands that control elections and legislatures. And that indicates weakness in that it has abandoned argument for ridicule and misrepresentation. It would make the leaders of the Farmers' Alliance fools and cranks; would make it appear that the Alliance, having enunciated a policy, is lacking the ingenuity to put it in operation. An instance of this will be found in the alleged action of Alliance delegates in asking Senator CARLISLE for advice. Senator CARLISLE, answering, is reported to have asked the delegates how they expected to get possession of railways, steamers and telegraph lines, etc., and dethrone the money power generally? He pointed out to them that there was $10,000,000,000 invested in these enterprises, and that their bonded indebtedness footed up $4,000,000,000 more. The delegates were astonished at these figures, it is said, and instantly recognizing as Senator CARLISLE intended they should, that the Government could not undertake the ownership of these institutions at these figures, slunk from his presence abashed and dismayed. Now, here we have a manifest absurdity. Shall it be supposed that the Alliance delegates are not as well posted as Senator CARLISLE as to the vastness of the sum invested in railways, steamboats, telegraphs, etc., when by consulting POOR'S Manual they would probably find the source of Senator CARLISLE'S information? And another thing. Senator CARLISLE was disingenuous, for even granting approximate correctness of his figures they represent nominal rather than the actual amount of money invested. If railways, steamboat, telegraph and telephone lines in the United States represent one way and another some fourteen billion, not less than one-half consists of watered stock. The story of Senator CARLISLE and the delegates may be a true one, but if it is true the best that can be said of it is, that the Senator was as dishonest as the Alliance delegates were stupid.

VICTORIA SCHOOLS.

TO THE EDITOR:—In this day's issue reference is made to the fact that several of the departments of the Victoria schools are overcrowded. Trustee Mallandaine is authority for the statement that in James Bay Ward shool "pupils have to take turns at sitting down," and from the report of other trustees it appears that some teachers have no fewer than ninety pupils to attend to. Now, sir, there is not another school district in this Province where such a state of affairs is allowed to exist, and that is due to the fact that the amount of appropriation for educational purposes depends entirely on the political proclivities of the representatives of the various constituencies. Take, for instance Victoria as compared with New Westminster City. In Victoria, at the last session of the legislature, provision was made for additional teachers—and consequently additional school buildings—in James Bay Ward and Victoria West. Does the government propose to erect the buildings? In New Westminster City also, provision was made for additional teachers, but the Hon. John Robson, having an eye to the political exigencies of the near future, has called for tenders "for the erection and completion of a brick and stone public school building in the city of New Westminster." Had another month been allowed to elapse, New Westminster, like Victoria, would in accordance with the provisions of the new school act, be obliged to erect school buildings at the expense of the corporation. How can you account for this discrimination? Is the premier apprehensive of political difficulties and is it his object to soothe the feelings of the wrathy member for New Westminster City by giving him a "brick and stone building" instead of an "enabling Act." NEW INSPECTOR.

STONED TO DEATH.

Summary Justice Meted Out in the Biblical Manner in Afghanistan.

"An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." The dictum of the old law still holds good in Afghanistan, says the Sheffield Telegraph. In fact, the manners, customs and surroundings of the Afghans of to-day might be prototyped in the pages of the old testament as faithfully as the life of the Israelites. The Afghans are Mohammedans, it is true, but their religion is built on old law lines and their social life is as simple and patriarchal as when the great lawgiver Moses ruled the destinies of the people of Israel.

For in Afghanistan of to-day oxen tread out the corn and plow the fields; and the plow itself is a counterpart of the Mosaical instrument. Corn is ground in hand-mills and a goatskin serves as a "water-bottle." Household and farming utensils have changed nothing during the centuries that have elapsed since the Israelites tramped the desert by the Red sea. In short, you could find a series of "tableaux vivants" in the surroundings of Afghanistan of to-day to fill up chapter by chapter the scenes depicted in the old testament. It is said that the Afghans are one of the lost tribes, and certainly so far as a dogged adherence to Israelitish notions is concerned they might be.

There is no mistaking the Mosaical parallel as far as the social customs present themselves; but I was astonished one evening, during the Russian scare, when I was on the Afghan frontier, to see the very similitude of the old law punishment of stoning to death put in practice.

A yelling mob of people came rushing from all directions toward the outskirts of the village of Puckta, picking up pieces of stone by the way and piling them in little heaps by their feet. I thought at the time they were going to have a pitched battle, with stones as missiles. But shortly a man came running forward, followed by a spitting, hooting mob, shouting: "Sag! Sag!" (dog! dog!). The unfortunate runaway evidently knew his fate, for his long, earnest appeal to Heaven as he stopped short and threw his arms up was but the preliminary to his fearful fate—his final appeal for mercy on his soul, for from that howling mob he well knew he need expect none.

The man had scarcely time to finish his invocation, when from all directions a literal shower of stones fell on him. For a moment he swayed to and fro under the onslaught. Soon the terrible shower had battered him into a jellied, blood-bespattered mass, his very clothes showing great rents through which the blood found vent and spurted freely. He wavered for a moment with his chin bobbing his chest, and then, after doubling up at the knees and middle, fell in a heap, dead.

Still the howling mob continued their terrible fusillade of stones until around the already lifeless body a cairn was formed, completely covering in the corpse. And then the mob clapped their hands, crowed, and went their way. "That dog is done for," said they. Done for! Yes, it was a terrible doing; for there under the heap stones the man's nerves and muscles still vibrated in their post-death struggle, causing the stone heap to rise and fall as if in labor with a thing of life; rose and fell in their horrible parturition for a few moments until the twitching of nerve and muscle ceased, and all was still. "Consummatum est." The murderer of Afghanistan has breathed his last and his jacet is written around the tombstone in those blood marks that bespatter the ground about his grave cairn.

SIMULATED VIRTUE.

The Value of Hypocrisy as a Social Elevator.

"Assume a virtue if you have it or not,"

he unwittingly laid down a general rule of high value to individuals and the community, says John McElroy in the Popular Science Monthly.

Simulation of virtue, though far inferior to the real article, is still the next best thing to it, just as whitewash, though much inferior to marble, is yet greatly superior to dirty nakedness.

It is very desirable that all men and all women should stand together on the very highest plane of goodness; but the largest portion of them do not—probably never will. It is unreasonable to expect that the mass of humanity will be steadily aligned on the most advanced standards of morality, especially when those standards are pushed forward as rapidly as they have been in the more recent centuries. Ethics is a constantly developing science. What was a high grade of morality in the eighteenth century would be a very ordinary one to-day; just as the man who, in our colonial times, would have been regarded as neat and cleanly in his person, would seem a good deal of a sloven to-day. Then, as now, men and women would assume to be much cleaner, morally and physically, than they really were, and by sheer force of persistence and habit became really cleaner than they at first pretended to be. Persons with the bump of approbativeness highly developed constantly forge to the front on lines which they think will win them the esteem of their fellows, and the latter follow with unequal steps, first showing outward respect and conformity to better ideas and practices, and then making them more or less of realities in their lives.

A Moral Community.

The little island of Heligoland, in the North sea, has a necessarily moral community. Offenders against social decorum are forced to self-banishment, and criminals from without are quickly discovered and punished, because they find no place to hide on this little dot of land. Two burglars from the mainland not long since made a rich collection of treasures by breaking into numerous houses by night. But, to their great chagrin, no boat was found to leave the island before high noon, by which hour their crime had been discovered, the booty returned to its owners, and punishment inflicted on the robbers.

Take the West Road.

The floor of the bridge at Sandhill, East Saanich road, is undergoing repairs, which, it cannot be said, were not needed. Those going to Saanich, therefore, should take the west road.

New Residence.

Another neat and pretty residence is being built to ornament Dallas road. Smith & Clarke are the contractors, and the residence is for Capt. Meyers. It is of Italian style, 57 by 36 feet, and will cost about $5000.

Dedication Services.

The people of North Saanich are making every preparation for the opening of their new church, which takes place on Sunday next. Rev. C. Watson will dedicate the new church and many from this city will attend.

Board of Management.

A meeting of the board of management of the B. C. Agricultural Society, will be held in the City Hall to-morrow evening. The business will be to make final arrangements for the erection of the new exhibition buildings.

Mr. Frank Campbell has hung up over his bulletin a lithograph engraving of Sir John A. Macdonald. The photo is the property of Mr. Noah Shakespeare, postmaster, and is very clear and distinct. It is hung in mourning.

Careless Blasting.

One of the large logs used in blasting at the Five Sisters block site flew into the middle of Fort street this morning, but luckily did no damage. A great deal of care should be taken by contractors to stop the material from flying around.

Contract Awarded.

Messrs. Thomas & Glover have been awarded the contract for the addition to R. Russell's block on Government street. Work will be commenced immediately. The contract for James Dunsmuir's new house has not been let yet.

Another Party Coming.

A party of 40 Raymond excursionists arrived in Seattle yesterday from Tacoma, and will come here by the City of Kingston this evening. They are all Easterners, and as most of them are seeking health, it is expected that they will stay here several days.

Losing No Time.

Messrs. Elford & Smith, contractors for the basement of the new Driard, are losing no time in starting work. It was only yesterday that they were awarded the contract but before six o'clock they had stone on the ground ready to start the foundation.

Another Straw Ride.

The Y.M.C.A., with their usual instinct for enjoyment, have decided to hold a straw ride next Wednesday evening around Mount Tolmie Park. Those that went out last evening had such a jolly time that the Y.M.C.A. boys could not help holding one.

Excursion to Banff.

An attempt is at present being made, with good prospects of success, to run an excursion to Banff this summer. The C.P.R. would make the fare as low as possible and every accommodation would be afforded. It is more than likely that a party of 30 or 40 can be got together to go.

Satisfactory Statement.

A statement was submitted to the directors of the Trade and Labor Club held last evening, which was most satisfactory. The membership has been increased as well as the interest of the chartered members. The Mayor and City Council were thanked for assistance rendered by them.

Their Annual Picnic.

The Sunday school children of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, are anxiously waiting for next Saturday, the occassion of their annual picnic. The cars will be taken at the usual hour at the station and the children and their friends will proceed to Langford Plains. Sports of all kinds will take place.

Took a Short Swim.

While Mr. Jameson was endeavoring to get a young colt on board the steamer Alert to-day the animal objected and in its struggles fell into the water. After taking a little swim around he was captured, brought back to the steamer and with the help of a pulley fastened to one of the davits was got on board all right.

Routledge Cup Shoot.

The first shoot of the Victoria Gun Club for the Routledge cup will be held next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Victoria Driving Park. This cup was presented to the club for competition by Mr. W. H. Routledge and is a very handsome example of the silversmiths art and much pleasure is anticipated by the members of the club in competing for it.

A Useful Tricycle.

Bicycles and tricycles have been in use on the coast for a long while as things of pleasure, but one arrived last evening that is going to do good work for the owner. It is what is called a carrier tricycle, there being a large box in front of the machine for carrying parcels. The one that arrived last night is for H. P. Johnston & Co., and is the first on the coast. It is of English build and runs as easily as if a box was not attached.

Refrigerator Car Service.

The Canadian Pacific's summer refrigerator car service began on last Thursday. Thereafter, during the season, a car will be dispatched from Winnipeg to Pacific coast terminals every Thursday on the following schedule: Leave Winnipeg 3.30 o'clock Thursday, Central Standard time; arrive Portage la Prairie 7.30; leave Brandon 15.00 o'clock, Mountain Standard time; leave Broadview 1.00 o'clock Friday; arrive Moose Jaw 10.30 o'clock, Friday.

They have No Ilifeeling (?)

The Vancouver World of Tuesday requests the TIMES to "draw it 20 feet milder" in an item referring to the arrival of the Zambesi. For the benefit of the World, it would be well to state that steamers arrive and leave Victoria every few days drawing over 20 feet of water, viz., City of Puebla, Queen, Mexico, Walla Walla, City of Topeka, Umatilla, and others. The World should have found out before this that the sweeping remarks it levels at Victoria do Vancouver more harm than they do this city. A few days ago it went after Mr. H. C. Beeton because he "dared" to present the B. C. Board of Trade with an atlas of the world.

Without Home or Parents.

There arrived from the Sound Tuesday evening a boy named Chas. Cannon, aged about 10 years, who tells a sad story. His father died in Louisville, Kentucky, and he and his mother went to Salt Lake City in search of relatives. They did not find them, however, and after a lot of trouble the mother died. The boy then started for Tacoma in search of an aunt, but on arriving at that city he was again doomed to disappointment; the aunt had left for Yale, B.C. The boy came here with what money he had, and now he is trying to get enough to take him to his relatives. Consul Myers and others are assisting, so it is likely that he will soon reach his friends.

Wm. Whyte's Affairs.

The air is full of reports as to the amount owing by Wm. Whyte, who has not been seen since Friday night. It is understood that he bought a large trunk on Friday, and that he left on the City of Kingston on Friday night. The claims already filed amount to $2350.75, but this is only a fraction of what his debts amount to. There are several heavy jewelry and other bills against him, and his furniture is also heavily mortgaged. He had been living a great deal above his means for some time, and many a tale is now heard of his extravagant habits. The firm of Messrs. Dunsmuir commenced looking over the accounts this morning, but it will be sometime before the matter is cleared up.

The New Government Steamer.

A private letter from Scotland says the steamer being built for the Canadian government for service in British Columbia waters, will not be ready as soon as was expected. The plating is not yet finished, but it was expected to be soon. The writer continues: "She seems to be a nice model, with a curved stern and bowsprit, and has a to' galant forecastle and full poop. From the proportions of her length, breadth and depth I should think she will be a good sea boat. The length is 175 feet, breadth 31 feet and depth of hold 13-6. Her name has not yet arrived from Ottawa. The launch will probably take place early in July and it will be towards the end of August ere she leaves the Clyde for Victoria. She will be schooner rigged.

Will Soon be Ready.

The machinery for Brackman & Ker's new oatmeal mill arrived on the City of Kingston last evening, was transferred to a scow and taken to the firm's wharf where it now lies. This came across the continent in three large N.P.R. cars, having been built in Galt, Ont. The engine, a Wheelock automatic of 150 horse power, is one of the best in the province, being beautifully finished. It was made by the well-known firm of Goldie & McCulloch, of Galt, which is a guarantee of its superiority. The necessary rollers are also of the finest make special care being taken in the manufacture of them. The boilers are being made by the Albion Iron Works. The building is expected to be ready by Monday when the millwrights will be put at work on the machinery. The firm intend to have everything perfect about their new mill by the time the new crops come in.

Old Coins.

An elderly gentleman, thinking that the TIMES building was a bank, came into the office this morning, and taking out of his pocket a number of loosely tied parcels, some in cloth and others in paper, opened them out, and displayed to the eyes of the clerk a large number of old Spanish dollars. He wished to know if he could exchange them for paper money. Most of the coins are very old, some of them having been coined in the reign of Charles III. They bear on their faces the busts of all the monarchs of Spain, from Charles III up to the present infant King. The gentleman is a native of Newfoundland, and only arrived in Victoria two days ago. The coins have been collected from foreign sailors calling into St. Johns, some of them having been gathered by his father. Besides these he has over 200 Mexican dollars of different dates. After the shiners had been examined, and the owner had been informed that he had wandered into a newspaper office, he gathered up up his treasure and departed, evidently with the intention of seeking some place where bank bills and gold were more plentiful.

WEEKLY MARKET REPORT.

The Prices Corrected To-day—Market and Retail Prices.

There is nothing new to report in the general tenor of trade throughout the city this week; prices are stationary and there seems no likelihood of any change being made for some time. The supply and demand are both good, and business is on the increase. The wholesale trade shows an improvement over the last few months, and collections are easy.

There is a very slight change in flour, Hungarian having declined in price 25 cents per barrel, and Oregon 15 cents per barrel. The market is well supplied.

Oats are coming in freely, and it is expected that the supply will be ample for the demand until the new crop comes in.

The fresh meat supply is now being drawn altogether from British Columbia ranges, and is of the finest quality; but there is no change in price.

Island butter is plentiful, but the grocers complain that the local dairymen do not make the best quality, and that they can sell much more readily and to better advantage the California article. They say that the British Columbia dairymen do not take enough care in the manufacture of their butter, and put it up in a slovenly manner, and think that if more care was used that the provincial article would be much more preferable to the imported.

Following are the quotations:

Wheat is selling at $40 to $45 per ton; oats, $40 to $45; potatoes, $18; hay, loose, $18; hay, baled, $20. The market rate for live stock is: Calves, 5c. to 8c.; beef, 5c. to 6c.; sheep, 6½c. to 7c.; hogs, 7c. to 8c.; lambs, $3.75 to $4.50 each.

MICHAEL DAVITT.

The Great Irish Leader in the City—A Talk With the "Times."

Michael Davitt, the great Irish leader, gave a TIMES reporter a pleasant half hour's chat at the Driard House this morning. He is accompanied by his wife and two children, and his visit has no political significance whatever, being only a trip for his health and to get away for a while from the worry and turmoil of business and political life. He gave anything but the appearance of a sick man as his eyes were bright, a good healthy color and quick and active in his walk and speech, looking stronger and better if anything, than he did when he visited this country before.

The conversation naturally turned to the death of Sir John Macdonald, whom he spoke of as a man of rare attainments and energy and unquestionably the greatest man that Canada has produced. In his death, he said, he was glad to notice that all, irrespective of partisan feelings, had joined in doing honor to his memory. On his journey from Montreal he had stopped off several times to examine the Crofters who had settled along the line of the road, and whom he found to be in a most prosperous condition, with millions of acres of just such land awaiting others. One of the great drawbacks to getting immigration to the extreme west was the high rates of transportation, which might be obviated to some extent in the near future by the Panama or some other Central American inter-oceanic canal.

When Manitoba and that section was first opened it was peopled largely by young Englishmen, of more money than experience or adaptability to opening up a new country, some of whom failed and returned home and gave the country as black an eye as possible. They told, what is largely believed there now, that the winters were frigid and the summers torrid. He said from a careful examination he found it to be otherwise, and that from talks that he had with successful immigrants they spoke of the climate as severe in neither winter or summer.

He said that he had suggested to a number of people, that the best way to secure immigration would be for successful farmers of different nationalities to visit the former homes in their native lands and to tell what the country really was both as to climate and its resources.

Mr. Davitt said that he was so much interested in this subject that on his way back he would go by way of the Canadian Pacific and make further investigation, so that upon his arrival home he could, both with his voice and pen, explain what the country was, and what is more he intended to spread the word broadcast as far as it was in his power to do. In speaking of Victoria, he said that he had had little time to look around him yet, but he could see that it had improved very much within the past few years and with its delightful climate and the resources of the Island it should become eventually a great city.

Mr. Davitt took a carriage a little before noon to-day and drove around the city, examining the different points of interest. He remains here until Saturday, when he takes the steamer for California where he will remain until sometime in August.

COLONEL OF THE FOURTH.

A STORY OF THE WAR OF THE REVOLUTION.

By Bernard Bigby, Author of "Loyal at Last," "My Lady Fantastic," "Ellen's Great Secret," "Fell Among Thieves." Etc., Etc.

Copyright 1891, by A.N. Kellogg Newspaper Co

"I am really very sorry to seem so stupid," he said, coloring crimson, "but I think you are a little hard on me."

"So do I," she said, with a light laugh, for her moods were as changeable as an April sky, "and very rude and unladylike also. Pray, forgive me."

"Nay," he declared, heartily; "I have so much to thank you for that forgiveness is out of the question. Now, to turn to a pleasanter subject, may I ask the name of the fair Samaritan who has done so much to-day for sweet charity's sake?"

"Meaning me? Of course you may. Perhaps you would like my whole autobiography? It would not fill an encyclopoedia, so you need not look alarmed." Then she continued, with a pretty serio-comic earnestness that fascinated her listener: "'My name is Mary Lascelles. I was born of rich but respectable parents on a plantation in the southern part of Kentucky, where I have spent the greater portion of my brief but brilliant life. Our family, which is rather old, migrated into the Blue-Grass State from Virginia—a little previously, I believe, with William the Conqueror from Normandy into England—some time previously, again, with Noah to Mount Ararat. Beyond that I am told that the family records are a trifle obscure, but we have every reason to suppose that the roots of our genealogical tree run right down to Adam and Eve, the original founders of our race."

"Then you have not always lived in St. Louis?" Frank asked, much entertained by her badinage.

"Not I, indeed. We are simply on a visit here—grandma and I—taking care of my brother's house in his absence on business."

She did not explain to him that the business which called her brother away from home was the command of a regiment of irregular Confederate cavalry, at that moment doing dashing service with Price in Missouri.

"And, may I ask," the young soldier queried, blushing and stammering like a schoolboy, "how, with such surroundings, you have retained your loyalty to the Union? I thought that—"

"Nay, don't let me sail under false colors," she interrupted. "I am heart and soul a worshiper of the bonnie blue flag, and would give every drop of my blood to see your whole host of Northern robbers and cut-throats swept into the sea."

"Then why in the name of Heaven did you succor us?" Frank asked, dazed at her revelation.

"A mere woman's whim," she replied, jauntily. "I saw you struggling against fearful odds, and could not resist the impulse to come to your rescue. I shall be sorry for it presently, of course, but meanwhile let us forget that we are enemies."

"And your grandmother," Frank gasped, "is she too a—"

"A rebel? Certainly. Now, sir, you had better go and show your Northern chivalry by telling your commanding officer what a hornet's nest you have fallen into."

"I would rather my tongue were cut out!" the young man declared, hotly. "No, Miss Lascelles, we are making war on men, not women, and there is no clause in our code of honor which demands the necessity of betraying those who have befriended us."

"'Code of honor' in a band of highway robbers—really, Mr.—ah, pardon me, you did not favor me with your name—thank you—Mr. Besant—what—a—very—amusing—idea!"

"Nay, Miss Lascelles," he said, soothingly, "let us keep our quarrels for the battle-field. You can not provoke me to fight you, so your taunts are hardly generous."

A pert reply rose to her lips, but ere the words could be uttered the clatter of a horse's hoofs rang on the paved streets, stopped opposite the house, and, as both the young people ran to the window, Frank saw a tall, robust man with long black hair dismount and fling the bridle to a negro boy.

He was startled at the deathly pallor of the girl's face.

"Quick," she cried, "for Heaven's sake let me hide you somewhere—it were ruin, indeed, for him to see you here!"

CHAPTER IV.

HIS DEAREST FOE.

There is a strong contrast between a lady's boudoir with a charming young woman for a companion and the cob-webby loft of a stable, whose chief feature is some evil-smelling, mildewed hay, with occasional glimpses of fat, lazy spiders spinning webs for flies that never come to the sun-forsaken spot, yet that was just the metamorphosis which Frank Besant realized.

He had been hastily hurried through the yard at the back of the house, peremptorily ordered to climb a ladder to his present uncomfortable quarters, and notified that if he did not keep perfectly quiet until further communications, he would bring heavy trouble on the head of his fair acquaintance, let alone entailing disagreeable consequences on himself. So he sat for hours moodily ruminating over the day's occurrences and wondering how the adventure would wind up.

The shades of evening began to fall at last, and Frank got more and more uncomfortable. Had it not been for Charles Fulton he would have made an effort to escape, but of course that was out of the question; besides he felt that it would be a poor return to the girl for her kindness, if he were to allow his impatience to jeopardize her safety.

At last.

There was some one moving in the stable below. Frank listened with breathless interest. Presently a voice called out cautiously:

"'Tis me, boss—Aun' Mattie. Jess come down de ladder sawf'ly es ye can—dar ain' nobody heah but fren's."

You may be sure that he obeyed the summons with willing haste.

"I mos' skeered to deaf 'bout yo, honey," the old woman whispered as he stood beside her. "For Gord's sake foller sawf'ly an' don't ask no questions."

She led him through a door into an alley, where stood a light delivery wagon, with an old gray horse in the shafts, and a white-haired negro perched on the driver's seat. Acting in obedience to Aunt Mattie's directions, he sprang into the body of the vehicle, only to find himself beside the recumbent figure of his wounded Captain.

"Don' be skeered, boss—lie down—we ain' a-gwine ter hurt yer," cautioned the driver, as he flung a tarpaulin cloth over them and started his horse on a steady jog.

"Besant, my dear fellow, I shall never forget the service you have done me this night."

"Never mind that, sir."

"But I do mind it, and always shall mind it. I was not insensible all the time I lay on that cursed door-step, so I saw something of the gallant fight you made to save my life."

"Well, don't linger on that subject. Where do you think this darky is carrying us?"

"To the fair grounds, where our regiment lies. Won't my father be jolly glad to set eyes on me—guess he's given me up for a goner!"

"But, how came you to get over the effects of that ugly knock on the head so soon?"

"Splendid nursing. By Jove, but that was the house of the Mothers and Sisters of Mercy with a vengeance. But, say, Besant, did you ever see any thing so perfect in the shape of woman as Miss Lascelles? Wish I'd seen more of her, but it shan't be my fault if the acquaintance isn't improved, though it does seem a pity that they should be on the wrong side of the fence in this National scrimmage, doesn't it? And that reminds me to ask you as a particular favor not to let on to any one any thing of a shady color you may have noticed in that house, as it would be too bad to bring them into trouble after all they have done for us."

"I was about to make the same suggestion," Frank said, pleased that the necessity of cautioning a somewhat volatile young fellow, though still his superior officer, was spared him.

The driver's precautions, which entailed considerable discomfort on his two passengers, seemed to them superfluous, for no one molested them on the trip. It was a tedious, disagreeable ride, but at last they were cheered by the hoarse challenge of the sentry and heartily glad to find themselves among their own again.

"I dassent go no furder, boss," the driver said, whipping his horse round so sharply that he almost overturned the vehicle, a proceeding which nearly cost him a bullet through his body from the conscientious, but too impatient young soldier on guard.

Frank ran forward, however, and explained matters, while the darky helped Fulton to the ground, where he left him lying, not even stopping to take the handful of silver the young officer offered him, but, putting his old nag to his best, sped in direction of the city. It is strange what a terror the colored people had of "the Yanks" in the early days of the rebellion.

As soon as Frank reached his quarters, he learned that the police and officers in plain clothes had been scouring the streets on the line of march, and that the Colonel was well nigh distracted by their futile efforts to discover the whereabouts of his son. As for the lads of Captain Fulton's company, they were in a wild state of excitement, for the young officer was a great favorite with them, and they had volunteered, with more courage than discretion, to go in a body and "clean out the whole city." So when the news spread that the missing ones had returned, there was great and noisy rejoicing, and when the old Colonel, half an hour afterwards, shook hands with Frank and publicly thanked him for his heroism, the enthusiasm was unbounded. From lip to lip the story flew ever with more or less exaggeration, and that night Frank Besant lay down to rest the most popular man in the whole regiment. When too, a day or two afterwards, he stretched the bully of his company—a ruffian from Cleveland, who had been a roustabout on a lake-steamer—on his back in a fair fight, the boys would have made him a Brigadier-General, if their votes could have done it.

They did not lie long at St. Louis, only time enough to properly equip themselves for the field and take a few more doses of drill, so nauseating to James Lawson, who was getting sicker and sicker of military life. Then, hey for the front! With one broad sweep across Missouri, they went into camp at Kansas City—then an insignificant border town with little promise of its future prosperity.

If you decide, from what you have heard or read, that you will take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any substitute instead.

THE R. C. BAZAAR.

The Cantata Last Evening—The Hall Well Crowded To-day.

The attendance at the bazaar, being held by the young ladies of the R. C. pro-Cathedral in Philharmonic Hall is proving a bigger success than even the most sanguine expected. Last evening the hall was crowded with ladies and gentlemen who, while there, enjoyed a splendid rendition of the Juvenile cantata "Flowers" by Mrs. Bridges' pupils, managed by Mrs. J. Ahern.

To-day the bazaar was again well patronized and the young ladies have good cause to feel flattered at the way the public have treated them.

This evening a splendid musical programme will be presented and these articles not already sold will be raffled.

CITY COUNCIL.

Letter of Condolance to Lady Macdonald—No Business Done.

There was no business done at the meeting of the council last evening. Mayor Grant took the chair at the usual hour, and there were present: Ald. Hunter, Robertson, Munn, McKillican, Coughlan, Smith and Richards.

His worship asked the aldermen if the business of the council should be proceeded with or should they adjourn.

Ald. Munn asked that the street sprinkler be sent to the park on Sunday morning.

A letter was read saying that a deputation of the leading citizens of Port Angeles would come to Victoria to bring certain propositions before the council re ferry and railroad communication between the two cities, and asked if the City Council would meet them. The council gave its consent that the Mayor should call a meeting whenever the deputation should arrive.

Ald. Smith, seconded by Ald. Richards, moved that the following communication should be forwarded to Lady Macdonald:

"That this council of the City of Victoria, B. C., extends to Lady Macdonald and family its sincere and heartfelt sympathy in their bereavement of a loving husband and kind father, at the same time recognizing the great loss to this Dominion in the death of Sir John A. Macdonald, Premier, who has occupied that position with credit to the country and honor to himself for so many years."

In putting the resolution before the meeting, Mayor Grant said that although there might be some differences of opinion as to the political views of Sir John Macdonald, he was sure that all would show every respect to the memory of the man who had done so much for Canada. It was Sir John who was chiefly instrumental in forming this great Dominion and he had always been the leading spirit in her politics. It was through his efforts that the Canadian Pacific Railway had been built—one of the greatest undertakings that had ever been accomplished in any country. He had accomplished so many great measures that his name has been eulogized all over the world, and he thought that irrespective of party politics, all Canadians would join him in paying every respect to the memory of Canada's great statesman.

Dyspepsia

Few people have suffered more severely from dyspepsia than Mr. E. A. McMahon, a well known grocer of Staunton, Va. He says: "Before 1878 I was in excellent health, weighing over 200 pounds. In that year an ailment developed into acute dyspepsia, and soon I was reduced to 162 pounds, suffering burning sensations in the stomach, palpitation of the heart, nausea, and indigestion. I could not sleep, lost all part in my work, had fits of melancholia, and many days at a time I would have welcomed death. I became morose, sullen and irritable, and for eight years life was a burden. I tried many physicians and many remedies. One day a workman employed by me suggested that I take Hood's Sarsaparilla, as he had cured his wife of dyspepsia. I did so, and before taking the whole of a bottle I began to feel like a new man. The terrible pains to which I had been subjected, ceased, the palpitation of the heart subsided, my stomach became easier, nausea disappeared, and my entire system began to pick up. With returning strength came activity of mind and body. Before the fifth bottle was taken I had regained my former weight and natural condition. I am today well and I ascribe it to taking Hood's Sarsaparilla."

CYCLES.

The demand for cycles in this city continues undiminished, apparently. Mr. Minor has just received a consignment of four "Psychos," solid and cushion tires, perfect beauties of their kind. One gets to wondering when improvements will cease in respect of this vehicle.

LACROSSE.

W. H. Cullin, secretary of the Victoria Lacrosse Club received a communication from Vancouver last evening inviting the Victoria club to visit Vancouver July 1st. The game will only be an exhibition one so it is likely that the club will go up.

BLACK DIAMOND CITY.

Not So Many Prospectors Going to Alaska this Year as Formerly.

NANAIMO, June 11.—The steamer Bertha, Capt. Anderson, arrived here yesterday morning from Alaska and after taking a cargo of coal will proceed to San Francisco. Captain Anderson reports having seen no sealers or revenue cutters during the trip. Seals are just beginning to enter the Behring Sea. The run of salmon has not been large and in consequence the canneries are rather slack although the canners are anticipating a more satisfactory run shortly. There has been a material falling off of prospectors going up the Yukon this year as compared with previous years. This is probably due to the fact becoming known, that there is not the money made that is sometimes talked about.

WILL BE A WEDDING.

Mr. G. Armstrong, the Alberni mail carrier, arrived here yesterday and brings the news that a marriage is to take place between Mr. McKay and Miss Fox. The Rev. A. E. Green left Wellington yesterday morning to tie the nuptial knot.

ALBERNI QUICK SILVER MINES.

The quick silver mine near Alberni is progressing favorably and at the present time there are eleven men engaged on the work. This mine is claimed to be so rich that a person taking a spoon can collect quite a quantity by spooning it up. Mr. Armstrong states the roads are sadly in need of repairs.

WAITING FOR THE OPPORTUNITY.

A number of citizens of Nanaimo have been awaiting for some time the decision of the E. & N. Railroad Co., to place the Newcastle property on the market, and as it is announced an auction sale is to take place in the Opera House on Saturday, it is presumed there will be a large attendance, and the bidding in consequence will be much higher. There are about 100 lots to be disposed of what is known as Hodgson's claim, and at present is being tested in the courts at Ottawa, but it is generally believed the latter will lose the case.

LITTLE EVENTS.

The Nanaimo Silver Cornet Band will give their first public concert in the band stand on Saturday.

Panthers have been ravaging the sheep belonging to Mr. L. Stark and have killed about 40 of them.

The Y.M.C.A. have another unfavorable day for their picnic.

The race for the handsome silver cup presented by Mayor Hilbert for a sculling match, will take plase this evening.

Consul Myers' Report.

U. S. Consul Myers stated this morning that as his financial year with his government closed on June 30th, he had been examining his business for the year and especially for the last quarter. He finds that for both the year and the quarter it exceeds that of the preceding year, although for the past year it has been very dull.

Packing House Burned.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—The Bay City Packing House was destroyed by fire late last night; loss, $60,000.
